

Chapter 3 Review

These are the Chapter 3 test questions

- What does the constitution serve as today?
- What is not a role of the constitution today?
- What does Art I establish
- What does Art III establish
- What Art. Tells how to amend the Const.
- What are the first 10 Amendments called
- What is the principle called that says people are the source of any power in government
- How must all citizens live under limited government
- What is the principle that divides government into branches
- When the President veto's a bill, what principle does that illustrate
- What is the "separation of powers"
- How does the judicial branch check the congress
- How does the congress check the president
- How do each of the branches check each other
- What can congress do when the Supreme Court says a law is unconstitutional
- What was the cas of Marbury v. Madison about and why was it important
- What is the idea of limited government about
- Who was most responsible for drafting the Bill of Rights
- What part of the Const. Sets out the basic guarantees of freedom and fair treatment
- What is the process for proposing an amendment to the constitution
- What is the process for ratifying an amendment
- How have 25 of the 26 amendments been ratified
- Why have so few amendments been adopted. Is that good or bad.
- How can the President informally change the constitution
- What is an order issued by a court to force a government to do something called
- What is the definition of a primary source
- What kinds of primary sources are most reliable
- Who sent the armed forces into combat without a declaration of war
- What is the commerce clause
- What is the Madison model
- What is a Writ of Mandamus
- What is tenure
- What is popular sovereignty
- What is the separation of powers